

"Future of Wireless"

Lego-Like Cloud Network Design

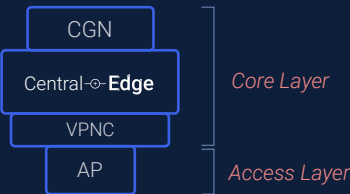

Faraday Edge and Aruba Central lets you build your Cloud Network Design according to your customer needs and existing infrastructure. Each deployment mode has it's own prominent features meeting the needs of Service Providers which are detailed below.

Local Mode

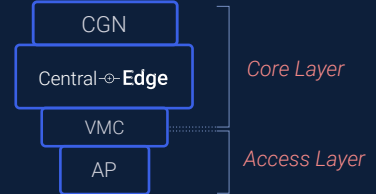

Brings in a distributed internet access architecture, saving on costs for high core layer investments. Allows zero-touch provisioning which makes it most suitable for non-technical Service Provide customers needing easy setup.

Centralized IAP Mode

Provides a centralized and virtualized core layer while still keeping the redirection and authentication load on IAPs.

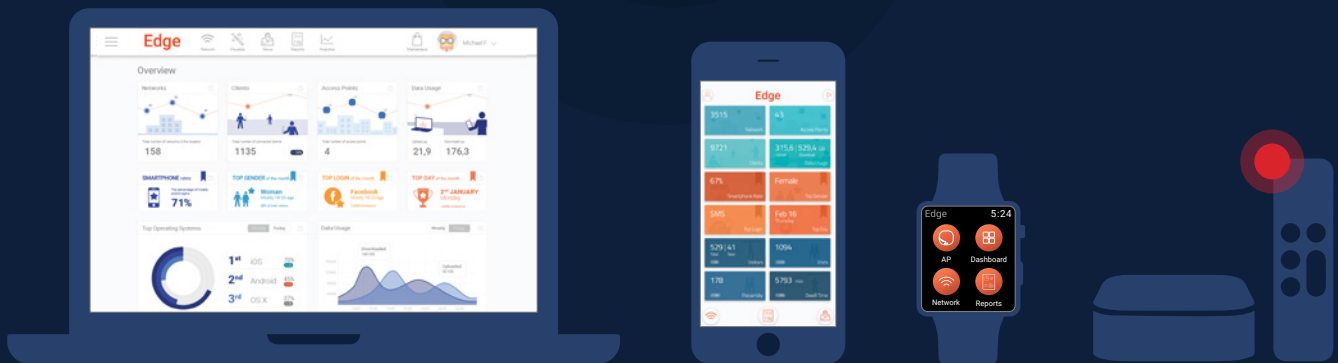

Centralized RAP Mode

With Virtual Mobility Controllers orchestrated by Aruba Central, it is possible to have a virtualized and scalable high capacity Wireless Gateway at Core Layer. User authentication and redirection handled at Core layer.
